MEDIEVAL CELTIC STUDIES

SECOND YEAR STUDENTS HANDBOOK 2019-20

Welcome

Welcome to Maynooth University and to the Department of Early Irish (Roinn na Sean-Ghaeilge). We are delighted that you have chosen to continue your study of Medieval Celtic Studies, and we hope that you will enjoy the year as you will deepen your knowledge and understanding of Medieval Irish history and archaeology, look in greater detail into the many aspects of Irish literature, or begin to study the Old Irish language, the medium in which the famous tales and poems have come down to us.

The Department of Early Irish (Sean-Ghaeilge) is part of the School of Celtic Studies (Scoil an Léinn Cheiltigh) in the Faculty of Arts, Celtic Studies and Philosophy of Maynooth University. The homepage of the department is at <https://www.maynoothuniversity.ie/early-irish-sean-ghaeilge>. The Department can be contacted by email at earlyirish@mu.ie. The members of staff are:

Second Year – General Information

General

This subject is taken with one other arts subject (excluding French, Greek and Roman Civilisation, Mathematical Physics, Chinese Studies, Accounting, Politics, Psychological Studies) and will be continued for the duration of the degree (three years or four years in case of the B.A. International). In accordance with the University policy, some modules can be replaced by Elective Streams. The course is taught through the medium of English and no previous knowledge of the Irish language is required. Texts will be read in English translations.

Queries

General concerns, problems or issues which may arise should be addressed to your Second Year Co-ordinator, Professor David Stifter (david.stifter@mu.ie). Wherever possible, queries pertaining to specific modules are best addressed to the lecturer in question during the consultation hours or after their lectures.

Lectures

You are required to register for modules amounting to 30 credits in total. The modules typically merit 5 credits and entail 24 lectures (2 hours per week), delivered over the duration of the semester. You must attend all modules that you are registered for. Tutorials are offered for some modules; if one such module is your choice then you must sign up for a suitable tutorial time slot as your attendance and participation in relevant tutorials contributes to the overall module assessment. All modules contribute to the end-of-year mark.

It is your duty to attend all classes, lectures and tutorials. If you cannot attend a class for any reason, please contact the relevant lecturer beforehand and explain your case. If you are ill, provide us with a doctor's certificate stating the duration of your illness.

The campus map allows you to locate all teaching venues: <https://www.maynoothuniversity.ie/campus-life/campus-map#expanded>. Although most times and venues of lectures have been fixed before the start of the year, they may be subject to change at any time due to unforeseen circumstances. Therefore it is important to check this information at the beginning of each semester.

Assessment

The modules will be examined through a combination of essays, examinations, and various kinds of continuous assessment; some modules are assessed by examination only. The exact details for their relative weighting differ from module to module, details of which can be found in the module descriptors. The university-scheduled examinations will take place at the end of the relevant semester, after the end of the lectures. Other types of assessment (in-class exams, essays, etc.) fall within the semester; details will be provided by the lecturers. Maynooth University's Marks & Standards as detailed online at <https://www.maynoothuniversity.ie/exams/information-students> apply. Please note that according to these under normal circumstances the highest attainable mark is 80.

Essays, academic sincerity and deadlines

You will be required to write essays (1,500–2,000 words approx.) for some modules. Recommended reading lists and essay titles will be communicated by the lecturers during each module involved. Essay cover sheets can be downloaded from the Department webpage at <https://www.maynoothuniversity.ie/early-irish-sean-ghaeilge/our-courses>. They must be duly completed, signed and attached to all submissions. Students are required to provide two copies of essay assignments, one for retention by the Department, and one for retention by the student.

Is féidir leat na haistí a cheapadh as Gaeilge más mian leat.

These essays must be properly referenced. You are responsible for the quality of any information used from other sources. All material consulted for essays must be credited with a recognised form of academic referencing. Unacknowledged reproduction of another's work or plagiarism is considered a serious offence, for which a student will receive no marks and the matter will be reported to the Head of Subject, Dr. Elizabeth Boyle. You are obliged to adhere strictly to the Maynooth University policy on plagiarism as detailed online at <https://www.maynoothuniversity.ie/exams/information-students>. Any such offences will be prosecuted according to Maynooth University rules and regulations stated therein.

Essays must be submitted by the deadline outlined in the module descriptors, or at the time specified by the lecturers during each module. Late essay submissions will incur a penalty of a reduction of 10 marks per day late of deadline. Assignments handed in more than 1 week after the due date will be awarded no more than 40% of the maximum mark possible. No essays will be accepted after the end of the lecture period of the relevant semester (20 December 2019 in semester 1; 8 May 2020 in semester 2).

Moodle

Each module has a particular account allocated on Maynooth University's academic support system Moodle at <https://2020.moodle.maynoothuniversity.ie/>.

Textbooks, Library

Relevant textbooks for each module will be recommended to you in the lectures. You can borrow these books from the John Paul II Library in the South Campus, or buy them in the University Bookshop, North Campus. Visit the library early on in the semester and familiarise yourself with it, e.g. where you may find the relevant books and journals.

Programme Advisory Office

The Programme Advisory Office is available to assist and advise undergraduate students with programme related decisions you may be unsure about during your time at Maynooth University. The Programme Advisory Office acts as a guide to students as you navigate your own way through your programme options. The Programme Advisory team can assist first year students with questions about subject combinations, changing subjects and progression options for second year. Continuing students may also avail of the service if you are unsure about your programme options, for example if you have any questions about the flexible degree pathways, or whether or not to choose to take an Elective.

Experiential Learning

Experience More During Your Time at MU

The routes available to Maynooth students to experience more from their degree programme are diverse, enabling the development of rich learning experiences that connect classroom content with real-world experience. The Experiential Learning Office connects Maynooth students to a range of opportunities in the following areas.

Community Based Service Learning

Community Based Service Learning presents a credit-bearing academic experience that empowers students to engage with their surrounding communities, which often results in enhancing student's academic, civic, social and personal development, whilst they contribute to the common good. The experiential learning office facilitates academic staff in offering community based service learning experiences with their students.

Semester 1

SG207 Language 1 – Old Irish 1 (5 credits)

This module provides an introduction to the Old Irish language of the so-called Classical period of the 8th and 9th centuries for absolute beginners. The history of the language and contemporary sources are introduced prior to the studying of basic topics of grammar (notably the sound and spelling systems, the inflection of nouns, adjectives and pronouns, the present stem of verbs) and reading appropriate Old Irish texts.

Teaching & Learning Methods: 24 lecture hours + 10 tutorial hours

Time and Venue: Tue 12:00 [LY3] and Fri 12:00 [RW.121]

Lecturer: Dr. Nora White

Text book: David Stifter, Sengoídelc. Old Irish for Beginners, New York: Syracuse University Press 2006.

Assessment: The marks are awarded out of a maximum of 80. 10% of these marks are for attendance and tutorial work, 30% for a mid-term in-class exam, and 60% for a university-scheduled written examination (60 min) in January 2020.

Tutorials: Arrangements for tutorials will be announced at the beginning of semester 1.

SG220 Literature 1 – The Celtic Heroic Age (5 credits)

During the Middle Ages, many saga narratives were written in Ireland and Wales which are now generally regarded as ‘heroic literature’. This module will begin by defining heroic literature, before examining the literary models for heroic literature in the Middle Ages – including Old Testament narrative and Virgil’s Aeneid. We will then progress to reading and analysing a wide range of medieval Irish heroic literature, including texts on literary heroes, such as Cú Chulainn and Finn mac Cumail, and historical heroes, such as Brian Ború. The status of hagiography as a form of heroic literature will also be discussed, and we will consider whether women could be regarded as heroic or whether the ‘hero’ was a purely masculine paradigm in medieval literature. Comparisons and contrasts will be made with medieval Welsh heroic literature, particularly the corpus of tales which centre on King Arthur.

Teaching & Learning Methods: 24 lecture hours + 5 tutorial hours

Time and Venue: Wed 12:00 [SE236] and Thu 12:00 [SE233]

Lecturer: Dr. Elizabeth Boyle

Assessment:

(a) 50% Essay.

(b) 50% University scheduled written examination (60 min) in January 2020.

Tutorials: Arrangements for tutorials will be announced at the beginning of semester 1.

SG226 Literature 2 – Between Mythology and History (5 credits)

What is history? What is mythology? How historical is the central tale of the Tuatha Dé Danann, Cath Maige Tuired ('The Battle of Moytura')? How mythological is Brian Boru's biography, Cogadh Gáedhel re Gallaibh ('The War of the Irish with the Foreigners')? To answer these and related questions, we will begin by exploring theories of history and mythology and survey writings from medieval Ireland and Wales that have been labelled 'historical' and 'mythological'. In exploring these sometimes nebulous concepts, we will look at features of the historical and mythological cycles of Irish tales, mythological interpretations of medieval Welsh tales, the Irish origin legend Lebor Gabála Éirenn ('The Book of the Taking of Ireland'), and annalistic writing in Ireland and Wales. Lectures will be supplemented by five tutorials, in which we will explore some of the major module themes further and discuss how to develop your research and essay-writing skills.

Teaching & Learning Methods: 24 lecture hours + 5 tutorial hours

Time and Venue: Mon 10:00 [SE233] and Mon 16:00 [EH]

Lecturer: Dr. Elizabeth Boyle

Assessment:

- (a) 50% Essay and/or presentation.
- (b) 50% University scheduled written examination (60 min) in January 2020.

SG255 History 5 – The Viking World: Ireland (5 credits)

The Vikings were a major factor in Irish history from the late eighth century until the early eleventh, and had a continuing influence until the later twelfth century. This module studies the Viking impact in Ireland during this period.

Teaching & Learning Methods: 24 lecture hours

Time and Venue: Wed 12:00 [RW.02] and Thu 12:00 [RM62]

Lecturers: Dr. Niamh Wycherley

Assessment:

- (a) 50% Essay.
- (b) 50% University scheduled written examination (60 min) in January 2020.

SG271 Middle Welsh (5 credits)

This module provides an introduction to the grammar of Middle Welsh, exemplified by short pieces of Middle Welsh text where appropriate.

Teaching & Learning Methods: 12 lecture hours + 12 hours of independent student activities

Time and Venue: Thu 9:00 [EHCR]

Lecturer: Prof. Barry Lewis

Assessment: 100% continuous assessment (in-class written exam)

SG281 Palaeography for Undergraduates 1 (2.5 credits)

This module introduces the students to basic concepts of palaeography: the development of scripts and writing styles, common abbreviations and notae, and codicology. The students will gain practical experience in reading medieval Irish manuscripts.

Teaching & Learning Methods: 12 lecture hours

Time and Venue: students are requested to contact the lecturer

Lecturer: Dr. Chantal Kobel

Assessment: 100% continuous assessment (reading and transcribing passages from medieval manuscripts for the class, in-class exam).

Special Options Semester 1

SG171 Intensive Old Irish 1 (7.5 credits)

The students are gradually familiarised with all aspects of Old Irish grammar. First, the phonology and orthography of Old Irish are introduced. After this, the inflectional classes of the nouns and adjectives, the present stem classes of the verbs, as well as central chapters of syntax, e.g. inflected prepositions and infixed pronouns, are the main focus of the attention.

Students who want to take this module have to contact the module coordinator first. Previous experience in the learning of languages is recommended.

This module has to be taken together with SG243.

Teaching & Learning Methods: 48 lecture hours

Time and Venue: to be arranged

Lecturer: Prof. David Stifter

Assessment:

(a) 20% Tutorial attendance and assignments.

(b) 80% University scheduled written examination (180 min) in January 2020.

SG243 Intensive Old Irish 1 – Exercises (2.5 credits)

This module is obligatory for second-year students who are taking SG171.

Teaching & Learning Methods: 11 tutorial hours

Time and Venue: TBC

Lecturer: TBC

Assessment: Continuous assessment of class-work and written assignments.

HY292 Ireland in Prehistory (5 credits)

This module introduces students to the remarkable story of humans in Ireland from stone-age beginnings almost ten thousand years ago to the advent of Christianity and writing in the fifth century. By means of illustrated lectures and field trips, we will explore Ireland's rich and varied prehistoric landscape. In the absence of contemporary written sources, prehistorians rely on archaeology – artefacts, monuments and excavations – as evidence for human activity in the Mesolithic, the Neolithic, the Bronze Age and the Iron Age. The module examines how modern archaeologists use twenty-first-century techniques and technology to explore ancient landscapes.

Attention: only a limited number of places available!

Teaching & Learning Methods: 24 lecture hours

Time and Venue: Wed 10:00 [IONSEM] and Thu 17:00 [HA]

Lecturer: Dr. Michael Potterton

Assessment: 100% continuous assessment (5,000 word essay or shorter essay combined with class assignments/tests. Essay to be submitted by Monday prior to commencement of end-of-semester examinations).

Semester 2

SG208 Language 2 – Old Irish 2 (5 credits)

This module continues the exploration of the Old Irish language of the so-called classical period of the 8th and 9th centuries. Aspects of Old Irish grammar and syntax are discussed in detail (esp. noun classes, past tenses).

Prerequisite: SG207 or an equivalent knowledge of Old Irish

Teaching & Learning Methods: 24 lecture hours + 12 tutorial hours

Time and Venue: Wed 12:00 [T3] and Thu 9:00 [SE235]

Lecturer: Dr. Elizabeth Boyle

Text book: David Stifter, Sengoídelc. Old Irish for Beginners, New York: Syracuse University Press 2006.

Assessment: The marks are awarded out of a maximum of 80. 10% of the marks are for attendance and tutorial work, 30% for a mid-term in-class exam, and 60% for a university-scheduled written examination (60 min) in May 2020.

Tutorials: Arrangements for tutorials will be announced at the beginning of semester 2.

SG223 History 3 – The Archaeology of Early Medieval Ireland (5 credits)

Archaeological evidence for secular settlement and social systems, the development of the early Church and monastic sites, the emergence of late ‘Celtic’ artistic traditions and the wider European, including Anglo-Saxon, Carolingian and Viking, influences that contributed to this rich period of Irish society is introduced and examined in detail. The contribution of new archaeological discoveries are assessed in the wider context of interdisciplinary studies, including history and environmental research.

Teaching & Learning Methods: 24 lecture hours

Time and Venue: Thu 12:00 [T7] and Fr 12:00 [HA]

Lecturer: Dr. Eoin Grogan

Assessment:

(a) 50% Essay (2,000 words)

(b) 50% University scheduled written examination (60 min) in May 2020

SG224 Literature 3 – Tales of the Otherworld (5 credits)

This module will introduce students to the large body of literature surviving from medieval Ireland which has a journey to the Otherworld as its central theme. This literature is diverse, ranging from entertaining prose narratives through to dense and allusive poetry. Journeys to the Otherworld can include adventures to a supernatural world within a hill or mound; voyages by boat to magical islands across the sea; or out-of-body experiences which comprise journeys through the Christian heaven and hell accompanied by an angelic guide. The literature will be studied with due attention paid to the historiographical issue of whether the Otherworld ‘under the hill’ represents the survival of a pre-Christian religious belief, or whether the texts which describe the Otherworld in this way view it as a purely literary device which can be used to hold a critical mirror to the real world. Texts will be read in relation to the secondary literature which examines them as complex literary compositions in their own right, as well as the literature which seeks to use the texts as evidence for a variety of religious beliefs and practices.

Teaching & Learning Methods: 24 lecture hours

Time and Venue: Thu 12:00 [LY3] and Fri 12:00 [APT]

Lecturer: Dr. Elizabeth Boyle

Assessment:

- (a) 50% Essay (2,000–2,500 words)
- (b) 50% University scheduled written examination (60 min) in May 2020.

SG254 History 2 – Law, Society and the Learned Classes in Early Ireland (5 credits)

The early Irish law books, often known as the ‘Brehon laws’ provide a wealth of information about numerous aspects of medieval Irish society. This module studies aspects of these law books, the learned classes that created them and the social institutions and practices they illuminate.

Teaching & Learning Methods: 24 lecture hours

Time and Venue: Mon 10:00 [SE010] and Mon 16:00 [RH5]

Lecturer: Dr. Niamh Wycherley

Assessment:

- (a) 50% Essay (2,000–2,500 words)
- (b) 50% University scheduled written examination (60 min) in May 2020.

SG272 Middle Welsh Reading (5 credits)

Reading of select Middle Welsh texts, prose and/or poetry.

Teaching & Learning Methods: 12 lecture hours + 12 hours of independent student activities

Time and Venue: Tue 12:00 [SE236]

Lecturer: Prof. Barry Lewis

Assessment: 100% continuous assessment (weekly preparations, in-class written exam)

SG282 Palaeography for Undergraduates (2.5 credits)

The students are introduced to the Irish manuscript tradition, especially those manuscripts that are relevant for medieval literature of Ireland. The students will learn how to read and transcribe medieval Irish manuscripts.

Teaching & Learning Methods: 12 lecture hours

Time and Venue: students are requested to contact the lecturer

Lecturer: Dr. Chantal Kobel

Assessment: 100% continuous assessment (practice in reading and transcribing medieval Irish manuscripts).

Special Options Semester 2HY224 Settlement and Society in Ireland (5 credits)

The importance of multidisciplinary approaches to the early landscape will be stressed, with an emphasis on history and archaeology and the natural sciences. Irish historic settlement will also be discussed in its European context.

Attention: only a limited number of places available!

Teaching & Learning Methods: 24 lecture hours

Time and Venue: Tue 16:00 [IONSEM] and Tue 17:00 [IONSEM]

Lecturer: Dr. Michael Potterton

Assessment: 100% continuous assessment (5,000 word essay or shorter essay combined with class assignments/tests. Essay to be submitted by Monday prior to commencement of end-of-semester examinations).

SG172 Intensive Old Irish 2 (7.5 credits)

This module introduces the students to advanced aspects of Old Irish grammar, esp. the formation of non-present tenses and moods, and advanced aspects of syntax, esp. dependent clauses.

This module has to be taken together with SG244.

Teaching & Learning Methods: 48 lecture hours

Time and Venue: to be arranged

Lecturer: Prof. David Stifter

Assessment:

(a) 20% Tutorial attendance and assignments.

(b) 80% University scheduled written examination (180 min) in May 2020.
