Third Year Politics Handbook

Academic Year 2024-2025

Welcome to Politics at Maynooth

Dear Students,

My name is Professor Seán Ó Riain and as the Head of the Department of Sociology and Centre for the Study of Politics, I would like to welcome you to our department. Whether you are a first-year undergraduate, a returning student or beginning your postgraduate studies, we hope you have a rich and fulfilling life here in Maynooth University.

We offer two main undergraduate degrees – one in Politics and one in Sociology. They can be taken completely separately or you can take both together.

Our approach to the study of both Sociology and Politics is informed by our commitment to public sociology and to being engaged and relevant to the world we live in. Our approach is to be interested, creative, critical, and engaged active citizens interested in shaping the world we share.

You can find out more about this year's choices and modules in our exciting Undergraduate and PhD programmes through the relevant pages on our website - as well as the work of our Centre for the Study of Politics

Read more about careers on our website where we give some ideas about what you can do with a degree in Politics or Sociology.

We encourage you while you are here to get involved with student life, sports, clubs and societies, and particularly to join the MU Politics and Sociology Society and to engage with us through social media (Twitter: @MU_Sociology and @MU_Politics).

As you get to know us, our work, and publications, you will find we research across a broad and diverse range of local, national and international topics. We bring this research to our teaching offering you a very broad choice of modules and subjects, enabling you to craft your own pathway through your degree programme.

You will find all you need to know on the different sections of the website and through our social media. You can also email our incredible admin team (politics@mu.ie), our accessible lecturers and tutors, and you can communicate through your class representative.

Our door is always open, talk to us and tell us what you are thinking and what you might need, we are happy to support you in any way we can.

Most of all, enjoy your time here in Maynooth!

All the best

Seán

The Centre for the Study of Politics

Our Teaching and Learning Community

We are a community of many people:

- Undergraduate students
- Masters and PhD students
- Administrative Team
- Tutors
- Lecturers

You will go through your degree in connection and cooperation with all these different people

OUR LEARNING COMMUNITY KEY PRINCIPLES

 Our Department is a community of teachers and learners who endeavour to learn from each other through relationships that are open respectful and engaging.

 We are a diverse group of people who respect each other's varying experiences and perspectives.

 We engage in active discussion and debate in an atmosphere of civility and mutual respect, in-person and online, inside and outside of the formal classroom and campus.

 We respect the policies of each lecturer and tutor regarding classroom and module policies and practices, including the use of technology in the classroom.

 We respect others by avoiding disrupting their teaching and learning, we try to avoid talking during lectures, arriving late and/or leaving early from lectures, and other disruptive actions.

 We understand that the staff of the department are concerned for the welfare of all students, for integrity, fairness and inclusiveness in our work and overall to promote learning in the ways that are judged to be most effective.

 We understand that we can bring concerns we might have to academic and administrative staff, and in particular to the Head of Department.

Stay in Touch with Us

Communications – Your Responsibility

It is assumed that you will attend your module.

It is also assumed that you will check the relevant departmental webpages and Moodle course pages once every two or three days.

You are responsible for familiarising yourself with announcements or notices provided during periods of time that are absent from class or from campus.

Please make sure that you check your Maynooth University mumail account every two to three days (even if you primarily use another email account).

Please also enable your Moodle account to receive messages from the Centre for the Study of Politics and Sociology Department and check your module Moodle sites regularly.

All Lecturer and Department announcements go to your Maynooth University email account only.

Contact Us – Please!

It is vital that we are made aware, as soon as possible of any difficulties you may have in relation to your work or with any aspect of the third year Politics programme.

If you have a problem or question which relates generally to the third year Politics programme, or to your participation in it, please contact the third-year Politics co-ordinator Dr. Barry Cannon barry.cannon@mu.ie.

If you have a query in relation to a particular lecture course, please contact the lecturer who is giving that course. Staff members are available for consultation at various hours during each week of term. Staff will post contact times and office hours on the module Moodle sites. If a lecturer is unavailable please contact the department administration team.

Alternatively, you may make an appointment by email or by contacting the department administration team – Centre for the Study of Politics, Sociology Department, Room 2.11, 2nd Floor, TSI Building, North Campus Tel: 01 708-3659. Politics@mu.ie

Staff Student Consultation

In addition to consulting with individual lecturers or the first-year administrator, students may communicate with the Centre for the Study of Politics and Sociology Department through the Staff Student Consultative Committee. The purpose of this body is to provide a forum where the concerns and interests of students can be raised. The committee consists of the staff year co-ordinators and student representatives of the various years who will be elected by students after the beginning of term.

Should you wish to raise a matter at the Staff-Student Consultative Committee you can do so in the following ways:

1. Talk to the staff member who has administrative responsibility for third year Politics (Dr Barry Cannon)
2. Talk to your second-year Politics student representative once he or she is elected.

For more information on contacting staff in the department and university, please go to: Undergraduate Learning & Information Hub | Maynooth University and click on the Who Should I Contact? tab

What the BA Politics is all about

Politics is about how we figure out what our society should look like.

At Maynooth University, you will explore the way politics shapes our lives, the different forms that politics takes, and how politics is organised in different countries.

As a student, you will examine the nature of active citizenship, international issues and the tensions between democracy, power and injustice. You will explore Irish and international politics, including a focus on Europe, the US or Latin America.

You will also have an opportunity to carry out research into political life, developing analytical and presentation skills. Street protests, local elections, European treaties, parliamentary debate, local council decisions, industrial conflict – all are part of the everyday life of politics. It is also about power and inequality.

Researching Politics

Many of the academic staff of the department research politics in various forms, as outlined above, and a number of our staff's primary focus is on the study of politics (for example, Barry Cannon, Mary Murphy and John O'Brennan).

Some of our standout research areas (with examples of relevant staff) are:

- International Relations, European Union, the politics of the Americas (Cannon, O'Brennan, Zambelli)
- Social movements and civil society (Cannon, Cox, Cullen, Murphy, Ryan)
- Politics of Welfare and Work (Cullen, Flaherty, Murphy, Ó Riain)
- Politics of Capitalism and Development, including the politics of the Irish and European crises and Brexit (Coulter, Cox, Fagan, Murphy, O'Brennan, Ó Riain)
- Politics, the State and
 - Gender (Cullen, Murphy, Zambelli)
 - Sexuality (Ryan)
 - Race (King-O'Riain), Zambelli)
 - Age and Generations (Gray)
 - Class (Byrne, Coulter, Ó Riain, Slater)
 - Intimacy and Emotions (King-O'Riain, Ryan)
- Media, communication and identity (Conway, Corcoran, Kerr)
- Environmental Crisis (Flaherty, Murphy, Slater)

Check out the research interests of our staff here.

Debating Politics and Civic Engagement

The university is home to the Maynooth Centre for European and Eurasian Studies and the research cluster on Political Economy, Work and Social Inequalities \(PEWSI\). Both of these academic research units are based in the Department of Sociology. These networks link up colleagues in different departments both within Maynooth University and beyond in Ireland and Europe. They aim to foster debate about key political and social phenomena and do so through hosting seminars and public lectures, disseminating research publications and engaging with both civil society and the media.

Faculty members are prominent contributors on political issues to a range of domestic and international media, including leading newspapers such as The Guardian, the Irish Examiner, the Irish Times, the Sunday Business Post, RTE, TV3, CNN, BBC, and many more.

The Maynooth Centre for European and Eurasian Studies

The Maynooth Centre for European and Eurasian Studies is an inter-disciplinary centre of excellence in research and teaching on contemporary Europe. It is unique in the Irish context and seeks to develop academic, student, diplomatic and professional links between Ireland, the European Union and Central and Eastern Europe.

Members seek to engage with both government and civil society in a multi-perspectival critical examination of issues related to Ireland's membership of the European Union, Ireland's relations with the Wider Europe, and the European Integration process more generally. Its public role encompasses the staging of public seminars on European issues and engagement with a diverse range of media outlets on important themes such as enlargement, identity, migration and EU foreign and neighbourhood policy.

In sum, the four core aims are:

- To carry out and disseminate cutting edge multi-disciplinary research on Central and Eastern Europe and Ireland's developing relationship with that region;
- To provide education and training for those interested in, or working with, the EU;
- To engage effectively with the diplomatic community and develop mutually reinforcing links with civil society actors focused on European affairs;
- To encourage both local and national debate on EU issues.

The Politics Degree at Maynooth University

Each year of the Politics degree emphasizes a crucial aspect of learning and doing Politics:

- First Year: Exploring the Diverse Worlds of Politics
- Second Year: Fundamentals of Studying Politics
- Third Year: Doing Contemporary Political Analysis

The Politics degree is also organised around four major strands, or different kinds of courses:

- Democracy and Active Citizenship: Courses introduce you to the most important concepts in theories of democracy and citizenship and applies them in experiential learning
- States, Institutions and Society: Courses introduce you to the most important concepts and research in understanding how political institutions work in a variety of countries and settings, ultimately applying this to understanding Irish politics
- The Substance of Society: Courses examine major areas of sociological analysis and use sociology to explore the key features of historical and contemporary societies.
- Research Methods and Design: Courses introduce you to the logics of social research and the different methods used by sociologists to analyse the social worlds around them.

Each year develops each of these strands within the overall theme of the year.

Second Year Programme

Overview

The main element of your Third Year Politics programme is your Special Topics final year Politics dissertation. This year long, once weekly module, gives you the opportunity to put your Research Methods learning into practice and to build on the real world knowledge about Politics that you gained in your Second Year Experiential Learning Active Citizenship Module. You can also build on one or more of the elective modules you chose in Second Year. All of this experience can come together in choosing a topic and question in Politics for in-depth research, which results in a 10-12,000 word written dissertation. However, you will also learn about Irish Politics and Society and be able to chose from a wide range of elective modules to further help you specialise.

Timetable

The Third Year Politics Timetable is available here! (CTRL and double click!)

Please note that timetables are subject to change - the live timetable is available through Coursefinder. Please review your live timetables regularly, particularly during the first weeks of the semester as venues may change.

Coursefinder will also give you a module description and other module information if you enter the module code in the Search field.

You can also view your own personalised timetable through your Student Web Portal

Venues and Locations, Maynooth University

A comprehensive list of all classroom locations and venues, including timetable codes, can be found at:

Policies and Resources for your Work

Conduct

Attendance at lectures is essential. Lectures provide the intellectual scaffolding which enables student-led independent learning. Outside of the lecture hall you are expected to read and critically reflect on the material which is recommended, and which is available through the Library and also on the MOODLE websites which support each module.

It is imperative that when you attend lectures you behave in a way that is respectful toward the lecturer and toward your fellow students. This means that you must refrain from engaging in any activities (talking, texting, face booking, etc.) which are a distraction to others who are motivated to learn. To this end, we recommend that you do not use audio/visual recording or technological devices in the lecture hall while the lecture/discussion is going on. Phones must be turned off (or in case of emergencies, on silent).

If you have a need to record or use other devices for learning reasons please discuss this with the lecturer who will make every effort to facilitate you.

At the request of student representatives who raised this issue with the Department we are requiring that students who wish to use a laptop computer in the lecture hall sit in a designated section of the lecture hall for the duration of the module.

We would like to take this opportunity to remind you that attendance at lectures and seminars is not optional. These are the places where people with real expertise in Sociology will introduce you to various aspects of what can often be a complex discipline. If you do not come to class, you will miss an important opportunity to learn and you will be poorly prepared for the various forms of assessment that appear along the way.

Assessment Guidelines

See Results Information for further information on grading. This page also has vital information on the rules for passing the year and a range of other important issues relating to marks and standards in students' degrees.

Details of assessment will be provided through modules. Lecturers will provide guidance on the main criteria for different marks/ grades in different assignments.

Requirements for Autumn Supplemental Examination

Details of Autumn resit assessment will be provided during the year, depending on the changing circumstances. However, the basic principle will be that assessment completed during the year can be carried forward towards the resits. Dates for submission of continuous assessments as part of the repeat process will be published later in the year.

Getting the Work In: Deadlines, Extensions, Penalties

We understand that students face multiple challenges and we will do whatever we can to facilitate your completion of all your work and your programme as a whole. However, our approach is to work to the programme deadlines, and then provide accommodations and supports as needed. Otherwise, it will become very difficult to manage all the competing demands on your studies. We encourage you to manage your schedule of assessment, as well as of teaching and learning, very carefully. We will provide resources at the Undergraduate Learning and Information Hub to help you do this.

Students will be informed of assignment requirements and deadlines early in each Semester.

Requests for extensions for assignments should be sent to your module lecturer (or tutor in modules with a tutor).

Students should proactively manage their work and engage by submitting an extension request including evidence.

Students should, as early as possible, email the module lecturer with your name/module code and the word 'extension' in the subject bar, and the reason with evidence* for the extension in the body.

*Evidence 'is generously interpreted to include doctor's cert, engagement with MU services, a personal email confirming conversation with staff member (reasons can include care, family, employment etc). Evidence that is 'private' in nature can be emailed separately to the lecturer.

Students who do this will be given a two-week extension period with 'no penalty'. Your lecturer will respond to you confirming your extension.

It is our practice to be as supportive as possible. Students who have not submitted or sought an extension will be followed up, where practical, by the lecturer one week after the deadline. If there is no further engagement, the student will be emailed, where practical, by the Head of Department two weeks after the submission date and offered details on student support services.

Submission portals on Moodle will be kept open for all late submissions (with or without extensions). It is useful to email your lecturer to advise them you have submitted a late assignment.

Students with no formal extension are still permitted to submit a late submission but a central 10% penalty deduction will be applied.

This guidance applies to all Erasmus and international Undergraduate - except students only studying for Semester 1, when the 'exam' is substituted by CA. One semester students advise their lecturer as early as possible that they are S1 only students so they can be informed of alternative assessment as soon as possible.

All these arrangements are in place to support you. However, it is always your responsibility to submit your work and to ensure that it has been received if it has been submitted after an extension.

Academic Integrity: Honesty and Learning

Plagiarism and academic integrity

Plagiarism involves an attempt to use an element of another person's work, without appropriate acknowledgement in order to gain academic credit. It may include the unacknowledged verbatim reproduction of material, unsanctioned collusion, but is not limited to these matters; it may also include the unacknowledged adoption of an argumentative structure, or the unacknowledged use of a source or of research materials.

For example, when you directly copy another person's text without placing it in quotation marks and without acknowledging the source, you are plagiarising. The same is true when you present someone else's original idea, research or argument as though it were your own.

Plagiarism is strictly forbidden. It reveals an unwillingness to think for oneself and is both unethical and illegal under copyright laws. Please do not make the mistake of assuming that we won't recognise plagiarised material – we know how to use Google too. It is almost always possible to identify text that has been professionally copy-edited, or is different in style from your own. The direct copying of passages (including illustrations) from a book, an article or the Internet without adequate references is a serious breach of academic trust and practice. Submitting essays or projects written by anyone other than yourself will also result in heavy penalties – including receiving a 0 (zero). As your final assessment is partly based on written assignments, plagiarism is equivalent to cheating at examinations.

The use of generative Artificial Intelligence (e.g. ChatGPT etc.) is strictly forbidden on all assignments, assessments, and academic work that you do within the department unless otherwise specified by your professor. To take credit for another person's or machine-generated words, writing and thoughts, and to present that as your own work, is plagiarism and will be subject to the policies of the university on plagiarism. The department reserves the right to ask students for an in-person meeting to account further for the assessment. Use of Artificial Intelligence in one module does not give permission for its use in any other assessment or modules."

Maynooth University considers plagiarism to be a serious academic misconduct, deserving of academic penalties. This document sets out the procedures for dealing with cases of plagiarism or suspected plagiarism in taught programmes of the University.

The Department of Sociology operates a "three step" system.

1. If a student is suspected of a breach of academic integrity, the student is required to meet with the appropriate lecturer to discuss the problem. The focus is on addressing the issues with learning or other aspects that led to the breach. If this is a first instance, the student will receive a warning but will be allowed to resubmit their work. Instances identified by lecturers will be logged in the department, linked to student ID numbers for confidentiality.
2. Second instances of this kind will result in the student being called to a meeting with the Head of department, year coordinator and/or other nominated academic staff of the department. This meeting will discuss the reasons behind the breaches of academic integrity and will develop a plan for addressing them. Student non-engagement in this process will result in moving to the third step in the process.
3. The third step in the process is moving to disciplinary action which will be dealt with strictly in accordance with the procedures outlined in the Maynooth University Policy on Plagiarism.

The Maynooth University policy guidelines on plagiarism are available at:

<https://www.maynoothuniversity.ie/sites/default/files/assets/document/MU%20Policy%20on%20Plagiarism%20Updated%20Dec%202020.pdf>

You should note that when you submit work this is taken as your statement that the work is original and does not constitute plagiarism, or other violations of academic integrity, under the Maynooth University Policy on Plagiarism. Any thesis found to be plagiarized in part or whole will be given a mark of zero (0).

Citation Guidelines

The Department has prepared specific guidelines for citation, please see here:

Harvard Referencing Guide for MU Soc Pol Dept 1 September 2022.pdf \(maynoothuniversity.ie\)

Please follow these guidelines in detail.

Welcome to Maynooth University Library!

Support Services

Maynooth University provides a wide range of support services to its students – please see the list here of these comprehensive and friendly student services.

A document listing and describing these services can be accessed through the Undergraduate Information and Learning Hub page of the Department's website.

Additional Resources are listed below.

Programme Advisory Office:

The Programme Advisory Office, within the Office of the Dean of Teaching and Learning, is available to advise you on any choices you might have to make related to your programme including subject choice. The Programme Advisory Office acts as a guide to students as you navigate your own way through your programme options. The Programme Advisory Office consists of the Programme Advisor, Caitriona McGrattan, who is supported by a team of PG students during peak times.

Incoming first year students are briefed by the Programme Advisor during Welcome Week about the programme choices you will be asked to make during your academic journey at Maynooth University. The Programme Advisory Team are available in person to answer any follow up questions students may have: details of times and location are available on the PAO website. Continuing second year students may also avail of the service if you are unsure about your programme options for example if you have any questions about the difference in major/minor pathways or whether or not to choose to take an Elective.

The Programme Advisory Office can be contacted via

Email: programme.choices@mu.ie

Telephone: 01 474 7428

In person: please see their website for information about meeting a member of the Programme Advisory Team: www.maynoothuniversity.ie/programme-advisory-office

The Centre for Teaching and Learning and the Writing Centre also offer workshops and tutorials <https://www.maynoothuniversity.ie/centre-teaching-and-learning>

Experiential Learning

The routes available to Maynooth students to experience more from their degree programme are diverse, enabling the development of rich learning experiences that connect classroom content with real-world experience. The Experiential Learning Office connects Maynooth students to a range of opportunities in the following areas.

- Professional Development and Employability
- Experiential learning professional development and employability modules are available to eligible second year students. The key purpose of these modules, involving a number of employers, is to facilitate students in their academic, personal and professional career development, so that they will be well equipped to secure internships and to successfully enter the graduate labour market.
- See Skills for Success EX201 and EX202 for more details
- Community Based Service Learning
- Community Based Service Learning presents a credit-bearing academic experience that empowers students to engage with their surrounding communities, which often results in enhancing student's academic, civic, social and personal development, whilst they contribute to the common good. The experiential learning office facilitates academic staff in offering community-based service learning experiences with their students.
