

© Brian Cregan 2018

Apply Now!

Key Facts for 2021-22

90 ECTS (Sept-Sept; 60 taught/30 thesis). Modules include: Thinking Geographically; Field School; Public Engagement; Thesis; Spatial Justice: Geographies of Social and Environmental Change; Dublin Urban Laboratory; Electoral Politics; Gender, Sexuality & Law; Winter School of Ethnography; Anthropology and Development; Qualitative Methods; Quantitative Methods

Our staff are international experts committed to project-based and field-based learning and have awards for teaching and research. Maynooth is a global centre of excellence in Geography.

Limited places so apply early! Closing date: 30 June
Fees. EU full-time €6,350, EU part-time €4,320, Non-EU €14,000
Course Director: Dr Patrick Bresnihan, patrick.bresnihan@mu.ie

Apply now online through PAC: <http://www.pac.ie/maynoothuniversity>
Course Code MHN66 full-time, MHN67 part-time
<https://www.maynoothuniversity.ie/study-maynooth/postgraduate-studies/courses/ma-geography-spatial-justice>

M.A. Spatial Justice Department of Geography Maynooth University

Maynooth University
National University of Ireland Maynooth

Spatial Justice

Working with Maynooth geographers, and their public engagement partners, students learn to document, map, and explain forms of discrimination, violence, and displacement. They learn how citizens can use geographical knowledge to challenge the legacies of structural injustices and seek more equitable futures.

Public Engagement

Recent partners include the solidarity groups: Right2Water, the Irish Housing Network, the Dublin Bay Repeal the Eighth, Pavee Point Travellers Heath Unit, the Just City Collective, Common Ground community arts organisation, and the Maynooth University Housing Justice Research Group.

Make a Difference

"I loved that something I did was finally a tangible sort of product that some other person could use."

The research skills "helped me land my dream job."

"I learned to be very open-minded and more confident in myself."

Staff and students at a community dinner of the Irish Housing Network