SPANISH AND LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES

2nd Year

Handbook - Course Outline

2019-2020

INTRODUCTION

Welcome to Spanish and Latin American Studies in the School of Modern Languages, Literatures and Cultures (SMLLC) at Maynooth University. Spanish and Latin American Studies was established in 1999. It offers teaching by experts in the study of languages, literatures, cultures and linguistics, both at undergraduate and graduate levels. We hope that you enjoy your studies with us and that you find your time here both productive and stimulating.

This handbook provides information about Spanish and Latin American Studies and explains certain regulations and arrangements that affect you. The Handbook should be used in conjunction with the University Calendar <http://www.MU.ie/calendar/>, Moodle and the SMLLC and Spanish and Latin American Studies websites and notice-boards, which should also be consulted regularly.

Some Important Details

- It is possible to commence the study of Spanish at MU. The language is offered at both ab initio and Non-Beginner (post-Leaving Certificate, or equivalent) levels in First Year. After First Year, all students follow a common sequence.
- All students are urged to spend at least a year in a Spanish-speaking country. Students opting for the BA (three years) must spend a minimum of three months in a Spanish-speaking country. Students opting for the BA International (four years) will spend the third year of their BA studying in a foreign university under the European Union's Erasmus Exchange Programme, under an exchange programme with universities in Latin America, or as a Teaching Assistant in Spain.
- Portuguese (in conjunction with the Instituto Camões) and Catalan (in conjunction with the Ramon Llull Institute) are offered as options in the second and final year.

Location of The School of Modern Language Literatures and Cultures

Spanish & Latin American Studies and the SMLLC are located in the main Arts Building. The Spanish & Latin American Studies Office is Room 35.

3. COMMUNICATIONS

The Spanish Office: This is the hub of Spanish and Latin American Studies. If you need information about something but don't know where to go, ask here.

You can submit your essays and assignments and collect essays assignments in this office (unless tutor has specified the use of the Turnitin system).

Notice Boards: These are located in the area around the Spanish Office.

Check notice boards regularly for information about deadlines, courses and events.

Electronic notice boards also available on the Spanish website. Students should check all Noticeboards on a regular basis.

Essay/Assignment Box: This is located underneath the 1st & 2nd year noticeboard.

You can submit your stapled essay/assignment (no plastic covers) here, unless your tutor has specified the use of the Turnitin system. Essays and assignments must be submitted by the date and time indicated by your lecturer. Late submissions will be penalised.

Staff Consultation Hours: All members of staff are available for consultation at specified hours as advertised on the doors of their offices. They are available at other times by appointment.

Email Account: All students are assigned an MU Maynooth email account. Students should check this regularly as the Spanish and other University offices use email to communicate with students.

PLEASE NOTE: The MU and Spanish Web pages, as well as the handbooks for each year, contain a great deal of information that will provide the answers to many of your queries so please ensure to familiarise yourself with them. When you email a member of staff, provide your student number, your full name as registered, and a brief summary of the issue. If the issue involves a module, provide the correct module code and title. Please note that while we will respond as soon as possible, members of staff deal with many queries and may not be able to respond immediately or outside of business hours.

Student Representative System: In the first week of term, each year elects representatives from the student body (one from each core language class) to liaise with staff. The student representatives should arrange to meet regularly with the relevant co-ordinator.

Student Enquiry Form: Students may complete a Student Enquiry Form for specific queries and submit it to the Spanish Office (See Appendix).

Medical Certificate Form: Students should complete this form along with their medical certificates and submit it to the Spanish Office (See Appendix).

Module Evaluations: At the end of every module, students will be asked to complete an evaluative questionnaire. These questionnaires provide useful feedback to assess the delivery and functioning of modules and to help us to continue to improve the quality of our programmes.

Overview of PAO for publications

The Programme Advisory Office, within the Office of the Dean of Teaching and Learning, is available to advise you on any choices you might have to make related to your programme including subject choice. The Programme Advisory Office acts as a guide to students as you navigate your own way through your programme options. The Programme Advisory Office consists of the Programme Advisor, Caitriona McGrattan, who is supported by a team of PG students during peak times.

Incoming first year students are briefed by the Programme Advisor during Welcome Week about the programme choices you will be asked to make during your academic journey at Maynooth

University. The Programme Advisory Team are available in person to answer any follow up questions students may have: details of times and location are available on the PAO website. Continuing second year students may also avail of the service if you are unsure about your programme options for example if you have any questions about the difference in major/minor pathways or whether or not to choose to take an Elective.

The Programme Advisory Office can be contacted via

5. Modules and Assessment

Each module is assigned a number of credits and you must fulfil the credit requirement in order to pass the year.

Modules

Compulsory Module: A compulsory module in a programme is one which is obligatory for all students taking that programme.

Optional Module: An optional module in a programme is one which may be chosen from a number of available modules but which is not compulsory.

Required Module: A required module is a compulsory module in a programme which must be passed without compensation (i.e. a mark of 40% achieved) in order to progress in that programme.

Further information about modules is available in the MU website,

<https://www.maynoothuniversity.ie/study-maynooth/find-course>

All students must register their module choice at Student Registration.

- A limited number of places are available in restricted modules for international students. Students can register for these with the International Coordinator, Dr Mercedes Carbayo-Abengozar.
- Students can change their First Semester Selections in the first three weeks of Semester 1 and in the first two weeks of Semester 2 for all Second Semester Selections. The Student Records Office must be informed of all changes. The records office may charge a fee for changing modules.
- Please note that students are responsible for ensuring that they are registered for the correct modules.

SPA3DM:	Final year Spanish, 30 credits
SPA3MI:	Final year Spanish, 20 credits

Assessment

- Assessment of modules is by exam and/or continuous assessment. Details are given in the course outline.
- Continuous Assessment is worth 20% of the marks for the language modules unless otherwise stated. The student is advised to carefully read the module descriptors in all cases and consult with the lecturer responsible for the module, any further questions can be directed to the Head of Spanish and Latin American Studies.
- Students must pass required language modules in order to proceed to the next year of study.
- Procedures for the discussion, checking and appeal of examination results can be found in the appendices at the end of this document.
- All students are personally responsible for finding out what assignments they are required to complete and the deadlines for submission.

Submission of Essays and Assignments

- All essays and assignments must be word processed and submitted through Turnitin.
- Check notice boards, Moodle and the Spanish Website for details of essay and assignment titles and submission dates.
- Essays are a compulsory part of the course and form an important element of continuous assessment.
- Students may write their essays in English or Spanish.
- Students must sign the cover-sheet (See Appendix) and attach it to the front of their essay. You can photocopy the cover-sheet in the Appendix or download one from the Spanish and Latin American Studies website.
- The essay, with signed coversheet, will be date-stamped on submission.
- Students must submit essays via the Turnitin system (located on the Module homepage on Moodle).
- When allowed by a tutor, essays can be posted in the box outside the Spanish Office.
- It is recommended that students book a computer in advance in the Public Access Computer Rooms (PACR) located throughout the campus in order to avoid missing deadlines.

Penalties for Submission of Late Assignments and Essays

- Late language coursework will not be accepted, except in the case of certified illness, in which case the lecturer or tutor may allow the student to submit alternative work for credit.
- Essay extensions (without penalty) may be granted in advance of the submission date by individual lecturers if the student has a medical certificate from a doctor.

- Essays submitted after the deadline (where there is no certified reason) will be penalised as follows:
- Penalties: Late submission of assessed course work or examination materials will result in a reduction of the original grade by 5% (5 marks) per day. Assessed course work or examination materials will normally have to be submitted electronically through Turnitin. Late submission of work owing to medical or other compelling reasons is not penalised. The reason must be established in writing prior to, or immediately (i.e. not more than two working days) after the relevant submission deadline and evidence provided (normally such evidence would be a Medical Certificate).

Attendance

- Attendance for this module is monitored regularly. If attendance falls below 70% of session hours, the mark will be capped at 35% for this module. This module condition will not be applied to repeat examinations. Absence owing to medical or other compelling reasons is not penalised. The reason must be established in writing prior to, or immediately (i.e. not more than two working days) after the missed class and evidence provided (normally such evidence would be a Medical Certificate).
- Students are required to attend all lectures, seminars, tutorials and language laboratory classes.
- Students are required to sign in to lectures and tutorials. Attendance records are kept by the Spanish Latin American Studies Office.
- Students should explain their absences to Spanish and Latin American Studies.
- If a student is absent for longer than five days due to illness, then an original medical certificate signed by a doctor should be given to the Spanish and Latin American Studies Office. A medical certificate form for submitting medical certificates is available from the Office.
- If a student misses a class test then an original medical certificate signed by a doctor should be given to the Spanish and Latin American Studies Office. A medical certificate form for submitting medical certificates is available from the Office.
- Spanish and Latin American Studies can refuse to allow a student to sit the end of year exams if that student has not satisfied requirements.
- It is the student's responsibility to obtain notes, assignments, etc.
- Please note that the Executive Assistant does not keep copies of class notes.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism will be taken very seriously by both Spanish and Latin American Studies and the university. Students are advised to read the following definition of plagiarism:

1. The wrongful appropriation or purloining, and publication as one's own, of the ideas, or the expression of the ideas (literary, artistic, musical, mechanical, etc.) of another.
2. A purloined idea, design, passage or work. (OED)

The university plagiarism policy can be found at the following link:

Lectures, Language Classes and Tutorials

Lectures

- Attendance at lectures is compulsory.
- Lectures provide the basic structure and information for the literary or cultural studies course and explore the key themes.
- Students are required to use their reading lists to supplement the information received during lectures.
- It is advisable to take note of the key points in a lecture as lecture material (powerpoint presentations, etc.) will not always be available outside of class. It is not necessary to write down everything the lecturer says.

Language Classes

- Attendance is compulsory.
- The aim of these classes is to develop a set of language skills to enable students to communicate to a high level in Spanish, and to enable students to engage in literary and cultural studies and carry out research through the medium of Spanish.
- Students will be assigned coursework regularly. It must be completed on time and submitted to the lecturer or tutor concerned.
- Students are required to participate fully in the language classes, which will involve individual, group, oral, written, grammatical and comprehension work.
- Students are also required to register for and attend Lab classes, which focus on the development of oral and aural language skills.

Etiquette:

- Students should arrive at the lecture theatre or classroom on time.
- Mobile phones must be switched off at all times during lectures, tutorials and classes.
- Food and drink should not be brought into lectures, tutorials or classes.
- Talking during lectures, tutorials or classes unfairly distracts other students and the lecturer and is not acceptable unless you have been invited to talk by the lecturer.

7. Health & Safety

- The commitment and co-operation of all staff and students of the University is essential if safety, health and welfare are to be ensured.
- When entering a lecture theatre or classroom, students should note the nearest exit in case of emergency.
- In the interest of safety students are asked not to obstruct passageways with bags/books etc. in class rooms and lecture theatres.
- Please consult the Health and Safety web page for further information regarding fire assembly points, first aid etc. <http://www.MU.ie/service/safety>

8. Equality Statement

- MU is committed to equality in higher education, both within the University and within the higher education system as a whole in Ireland. It recognises that the obstacles to equality are complex and can include deep-rooted structural biases as well as formal barriers. It seeks to develop and implement policies and procedures which promote equality and which avoid unfair discrimination on grounds of age, disability, membership of the Traveller community, marital status, family status, gender, religion, social class, sexual orientation, race, colour, nationality or ethnic or national origins.
- The University regards equality as an essential component of quality assurance, which is aimed at improving the quality of education and related services, while at the same time ensuring the maintenance of proper academic standards.
- <http://humanresources.MU.ie/documents/Statementofpolicyonequality.pdf>

9. Counselling Services

- The Student Counselling Service is a confidential professional counselling service provided on campus to the students of NUI Maynooth. <http://studentservices.MU.ie/counselling>

10. Maynooth Access Programme (MAP)

- The Maynooth Access Programme encourages underrepresented groups to enter third level and provides these groups with support through their time at Maynooth. These groups include under-represented school leavers, mature students, students with disabilities, travellers and refugees.

Rules and Penalties

- Pass standard: 40%
- Attendance for modules monitored regularly. If attendance falls below 70% of session hours, the mark will be capped at 35% for this module. This module condition will not be applied to repeat examinations. Absence owing to medical or other compelling reasons is not penalised. The reason must be established in writing prior to, or immediately (i.e. not more than two working days) after the missed class and evidence provided (normally such evidence would be a Medical Certificate).
- Penalties: Late submission of assessed course work or examination materials will result in a reduction of the original grade by 5% (5 marks) per day. Assessed course work or examination materials will normally have to be submitted electronically through Turnitin. Late submission of work owing to medical or other compelling reasons is not penalised. The reason must be established in writing prior to, or immediately (i.e. not more than two working days) after the relevant submission deadline and evidence provided (normally such evidence would be a Medical Certificate).

12. Guidelines for Essay Writing

GENERAL PRESENTATION:

- 1) Is my name on the essay?
- 2) Is the full title at the start of the essay?
- 3) Is the essay double-spaced?
- 4) Have I proofread the text for language errors?
- 5) Have I signed and attached the coversheet?

CONTENT:

- 1) Is everything I have written relevant to the title of the essay?
- 2) Have I clearly demonstrated this relevance?
- 3) Is there an introduction? Does the introduction make clear what the essay is about and the approach taken?
- 4) Is there a conclusion? Does this give the reader a final overview of my points without repeating the details from the essay itself?
- 5) Is there a clear sequence of ideas?
- 4) Are all quotations clearly marked in the text?
- 5) Are the quotations relevant to the point I am making?
- 7) Does each quotation have a complete reference?
- 8) Have I indicated where I have borrowed an idea from a critical source?
- 9) Have I given references for all borrowings from critical sources?
- 10) Have I included a complete bibliography of all the sources used?

NOTES ON REFERENCES:

In the bibliography, all sources must be listed in alphabetical order, in the following manner:
Lucie-Smith, Edward, Latin American Art of the 20th Century (London: Thames and Hudson, 1997)

In footnotes, the title is listed as follows:

Edward Lucie-Smith, Latin American Art of the 20th Century (London: Thames and Hudson, 1997)

In an essay where a particular work is referred to throughout, one may signal this to avoid repeating the full reference by noting that all references are to this edition.

Titles in Spanish are lowercased with the exception of the first word:

Paz, Octavio, El laberinto de la soledad (Mexico City: Fondo de Cultura Económica, 1981)

except when the title includes a proper noun:

Lorca, Federico García, La casa de Bernarda Alba (Manchester: Manchester University Press, 1983)

The titles of novels, plays and films are given in italics. The titles of essays and articles are given in single quotation marks. The titles of collections of poems and short stories are given in italics, but the titles of individual poems and short stories are set in quotation marks.

Make sure to include sources gleaned from the Internet.

13. Study Abroad

- Students registered with Spanish & Latin American Studies are expected to spend their third year studying at a Spanish, Latin American or Portuguese university or teaching English at an official language school in Spain. Students that wish to opt-out of the year abroad must request permission from the department.
- All European Studies students must spend their third year in a foreign university.
- Upon successful completion of the academic programmes in Spain/Latin America and at Maynooth University, students qualify for a BA International.
- Students will be advised by the Departments at NUIM of the subjects that they are to study in the host university.
- Students will be directed to study in certain universities depending on their subjects.
- In Semester I of Second Year, students should contact the Spanish & Latin American Studies International co-ordinator to register their expression of interest.
- In Semester II of Second Year, we will invite a representative from the International Office to give a talk on the procedures to be followed for those interested in studying abroad.
- In Semester II of Second Year, the International Co-ordinator will meet with students in order to discuss their study abroad options.
- Visit the International Office Website for further details <http://international.nuim.ie/>
- Spanish & Latin American Studies at MU has links with the following Spanish and Portuguese Universities (your other Department may have links with universities in Spain or elsewhere also).
Please be aware that the Erasmus scheme will only cover Universities in the EU.

Teaching Assistantships in Spain

The Irish Department of Education, in conjunction with the Spanish Government, offers a limited number of teaching assistantships in Spain to suitably qualified Irish candidates. Students might consider applying for an assistantship after completing the degree or, alternatively, taking a year out after the second year to work as an English language assistant in the Spanish secondary school system. If it is done in the third year of study and students meet certain academic requirements, they may qualify for a BA International. These assistantships are advertised near the end of the second semester. A notice will be put on the notice board and on the website to advise people of the assistantships. Application forms will be available from the Departmental Office; they can also be obtained directly from the Department of Education www.education.ie. Completed application forms must be returned to the Department of Education & Science, Marlborough Street, Dublin 1, and not to the Department of Spanish.

*Achieving a place on a HDip in Education programme may be based on a student's second-year result if the final year result is unavailable before the application closing date. This applies when a student seeks a place for the academic year immediately following completion of the undergraduate programme.

To allow students to teach Spanish at Post-Primary level in Ireland the Teaching Council requires residential experience of three months in Spain or other country where Spanish is the vernacular. Documentary evidence of this will be required. www.teachingcouncil.ie

14. Books

- The textbooks for the Department of Spanish programmes can be purchased from the University Bookshop in the John Hume Building on the North Campus.
- Second-hand copies of texts may also be available. Check notice boards in the Students' Union, Departments and Language Centre.
- Students must have access to copies of all core texts.
- The Department endeavours to make copies of core texts available in the library, but this is not always possible.
- All students should purchase or have access to a good Spanish-English dictionary (not the pocket edition). The Department of Spanish recommends the Oxford Spanish-English Dictionary and the Collins Spanish-English Dictionary.
- Students will also need to consult monolingual dictionaries. The Department of Spanish recommends the Real Academia and the Maria Moliner monolingual dictionaries.
- It is also advisable to have a good reference grammar book, for example, Butt, John and Benjamin, Carmen, A New Reference Grammar of Modern Spanish (London: Hodder Arnold, 2004).
- Multiple copies of reference books are available in the library.
- The following bookshops are also useful:

This prize is awarded by the National University of Ireland, and some of the students of this Department have been the recipients of this prestigious award. The winners are chosen from departmental nominees from the Departments of Spanish of the constituent colleges of the National University of Ireland. <http://www.nui.ie/awards/>

A list of students who have been awarded these prizes will be displayed outside the Departmental Office.

16. Visiting Lecturers and Research Seminars

Guest Lecturers visit the Department each year to give lectures on a variety of specialized topics. School of Modern Languages, Literatures and Cultures Research Seminars will also be organized on a regular basis. Attendance at these lectures and research seminars is always recommended and, where the lecture takes the place of a Departmental lecture, attendance is compulsory.

17. Postgraduate Study

Students interested in pursuing postgraduate studies in the Department of Spanish should contact the Postgraduate Coordinator, Dr Catherine Leen.

For further information please see the following websites;
